

Hunger is climbing in America, as rising costs and an uncertain economy affect a growing number of people. For thousands of people in Aurora and Kane County, the Marie Wilkinson Food Pantry is more than a source of nutrition – it’s a beacon of hope and human kindness.

Last year, nearly 1,600 people visited our food pantry for the first time. Some of them never dreamed they would ever need to rely on the kindness of strangers to feed their family. We have seen this trend continue in 2022, as more and more new visitors come in.

These visitors receive so much more than a meal. They receive nutritious food served by compassionate volunteers. They have access to nutrition education to help them build healthy lifestyles. And they find a warm environment dedicated to helping them work through all their challenges – nutritional, social, and emotional.

Times are hard, and a dollar doesn’t stretch as far as it used to. With decades of experience serving our community, we know how to make a little go a long way. For every $1 donated to the Marie Wilkinson Food Pantry, we’re able to buy $8 worth of food to help people in need.

Through the generosity of people like you, the Marie Wilkinson Food Pantry changes the lives of our clients and our volunteers. We help people like Larry – a widowed father of three who, after a few weeks of support, was once again able to provide for his family. And we help people like Tim, who came to us as a court-ordered volunteer and later returned as a donor because he had seen the good that we do.

In 65 years of caring for our local community, the Marie Wilkinson Food Pantry has probably touched the life of someone you know. Our mission is unchanged: to carry on Marie’s legacy of meeting the hunger needs of individuals and families in Aurora and surrounding communities by educating, empowering, and enlightening people to be self-sustainable through collaborations and partnerships.

As 2022 draws to a close, we predict an even greater need for our services in 2023. We will rise to the challenge with the help of generous people like you. Your support is what makes it possible for us to carry out life-changing work in this community.

As you plan your year-end giving, please remember the hungry in your community. Your donation helps us provide food, services, and perhaps most importantly, hope.

From all of us at MWFP- we wish the best of holidays and a happy new year. Thank you for your support.
Sincerely,
